Greening the Sporting Chance Forum

We at the Centre for Sport and Human Rights are committed to ensuring that best efforts are made by staff, co-hosts, partners, sponsors and all actors involved in the Sporting Chance Forum to reduce the global environmental impact of the Forum, particularly by selecting as much as possible appropriate products and vendors.

This year we have worked with the Office of the United Nations in Geneva (UNOG) to reduce the use of plastic in catering as much as possible.

We have also chosen not to print the Forum Agenda, Speaker Bios, Participants List, Social Media Toolkit, and other materials and utilise a dedicated online portal for all such resources.

Thanks to the support of UEFA, we will be able to offer water bottles to the delegates who will be able to fill them at the UN drinkable water fountains.

We are also very pleased to announce that UEFA has offered to offset the global carbon footprint of the event, and we are working closely together to provide them with the most accurate data for the calculation.

THE ROLE OF SPORT IN RESPECTING HUMAN RIGHTS

Leading sports organisations worldwide face a range of social and environmental challenges requiring effective policies and practices in response. This session will feature a conversation exploring how sports bodies are seeking to ensure respect for human rights in their work.

- Moderated by: Zeid Ra’ad al Hussein (former UN High Commissioner for Human Rights)

CORPORATE PARTNERS: CONNECTING CORPORATE PURPOSE WITH THE RESPONSIBILITY TO RESPECT HUMAN RIGHTS

Sponsors, broadcasters, and other corporate partners have a responsibility, within their own operations and throughout their supply chains, to respect human rights. Sporting events are no different from any other business relationship in terms of needing to proactively take account of potential human rights risks. Doing so requires clear communication of what they expect of their sports body partners, from bidding through to legacy and in day-to-day sport, including how sports bodies meaningfully engage with the athletes, workers, communities, fans, volunteers, and journalists affected by sport.

- Moderated by: Steve Gibbons (Director, Ergon Associates)
- Andrés Peñate (Global Vice President, Regulatory & Public Policy, Anheuser-Busch InBev)
- Moira Oliver (Head of Policy and Chief Counsel, Human/Digital Rights, BT plc)
- Madhu Rajesh (Director, International Tourism Partnership)
12.00PM - 2.00PM

LUNCH

Lunch will not be provided due to logistical considerations in the Palais des Nations. However, the lunch break period is extended to allow participants ample time to use the Palais facilities (Serpent Bar, UN Cafeteria) as well as to provide meaningful opportunities for networking. Tea and coffee will be available outside Room XX from 1.30pm.

2.00PM - 3.30PM

REMEDYING HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES IN SPORT

Ensuring access to remedy in the context of sport-related human rights abuses remains a challenging issue for all actors. In many cases, remedy mechanisms are either not available at all, not accessible to those affected, or not effective. This session builds on the 2018 Strategic Dialogue on Remedy in the Sport and Human Rights Context, illustrating with concrete examples gaps and challenges related to existing mechanisms and applying a solutions-based approach in order to advance consensus on this critical issue.

- Moderated by: Mary Harvey (CEO, Centre for Sport and Human Rights)
- Rachel Davis (Vice President and Co-Founder, Shift)
- Andreas Graf (Human Rights Manager, FIFA)
- Gregory Nott (Director, Norton Rose Fulbright South Africa)

REGISTRATION AND TEA / COFFEE (SERPENT BAR)

CHILD RIGHTS IN SPORT: RECOMMENDATIONS TO AND RESPONSE FROM SPORTING ORGANISATIONS AND STATES

The Report of the Special Rapporteur on the Sale and Sexual Exploitation of Children is the most comprehensive United Nations document on the current situation of child rights violations in the context of sports. These include, among others, violations and harms related to trafficking, displacement, abuse, exploitation, sale, contracting, grooming, and labour. In addition, it includes 14 Recommendations to Sport Organisations and another 14 to Governments. The objective of the session is to raise awareness of the Report amongst sport organisations, governments and other key actors, join the gap between best practice on the ground and the recommendations by the Special Rapporteur, and provide practical courses of action and resources to sports bodies looking to do this work.

Presentation by Maud de Boer-Buquicchio (Special Rapporteur on the Sale and Sexual Exploitation of Children) followed by a panel discussion where sports bodies respond to the recommendations made by the Special Rapporteur.

- Moderated by: Najat Maalla M’jid (UN Special Representative on Violence Against Children)
- Iris Hugo-Bouvier (Football and Social Responsibility, UEFA)
- Kathryn Leslie (Senior Child Safeguarding and Protection Manager, FIFA)

SAFEGUARDING AND PROTECTING ADULT ATHLETES AND CHILDREN IN SPORT: WHERE TO START?

Safeguarding in sport is the process of protecting children and adults from harm by providing a safe environment in which to participate in sports, whether as an athlete or fan. Everyone has a role to play in keeping others safe. The session will provide an opportunity to learn about the safeguarding experiences of sport federations. It will provide those federations that may not yet have, or have only begun to establish, safeguarding policies and procedures with insights and tools that may be relevant to their circumstances.

- Moderated by: Anne Tiivas (Chair and Director, Safe Sport International)
- Áine Power (Deputy Legal Director at Federation Equestre Internationale)
- Siret Luik (Deputy Secretary General, World Archery)
- Gigi Alford (Sport and Human Rights, World Players Association; Coordinator, Sport and Rights Alliance)

LUNCH

Lunch will not be provided due to logistical considerations in the Palais des Nations. CRAIG FOSTER IN CONVERSATION WITH HAKEEM AL ARAIBI

In 2019 a former member of the Bahrain Men’s National Football Team, Hakeem al-Araibi, was arrested in Thailand for peacefully protesting against injustice in his home country. The global campaign for his release was led by Craig Foster, a former international footballer from Australia and human rights advocate, with assistance by a wide range of football’s most powerful actors, including top sponsors, leading governments, NGOs and advocates. This conversation will highlight Hakeem’s story as well as lessons for all actors in protecting the rights of athletes and others impacted by their involvement in sport.

IMPACT OF REGIONAL BODIES ON POLICY AND IMPLEMENTATION

One of the objectives of the 2019 Sporting Chance Forum is the engagement of States. Working through regional inter-governmental mechanisms (such as the African Union, the Council of Europe and the Ibero American Sports Council) is a means to engage States and advocate for human rights on issues related to sport and human rights. Some such mechanisms have a dedicated division or department for sports. Some facilitate the adoption of regional plans and policies that their member states and sport organisations commit to implement. This includes plans and policies that are within the framework of the 2030 Sustainable Development Agenda and the Kazan Action Plan.

- Moderated by: Oliver Dudfield (Head of Sport for Development & Peace, Commonwealth Secretariat)
- Elda Moreno (Head of the Children’s Rights and Sport Values Department, Council of Europe)
- Olawale Maiyegun (Special Advisor, CSHR; and former Nigerian Diplomat and former AU Director of the Department for Social Affairs)
- Maria José Rienda (Executive Secretary of Ibero-American Sports Council and President, Spanish National Sport Council, Ministry of Sport and Culture, Government of Spain)
- Mark Mungal (Director, Caribbean Sport and Development Agency)

THE ROAD AHEAD

- Moderated by: Mary Harvey (CEO, Centre for Sport and Human Rights)

- Matthias Thorns (Deputy Secretary-General, International Organisation of Employers)
